

THE PRESCIENT VALUE TRIFECTA

At Prescient, we are constantly refining our three most valued differentiators – our portal, our processes, and our final product – to ensure clients get the best for their money. So how exactly does this trifecta provide value for your organization? We'll break it down for you.

Our Portal: one central system that standardizes enterprise-wide operations

- Optimal Communication - Email, meet portal. Avoid the hassle of back-and-forth email communication, and ensure your company's data is safely transferred, any time, anywhere, through our web-based system.
- Standardization - We built our portal so you can scale. Standardize how your entire organization submits, changes, tracks, and archives all types of due diligence requests through our portal.

Our Process: methodologies that ensure we find the "needle in the haystack" for you

- Human Analysis - Sometimes humans are just better. We scour several data aggregators and cross-check with social media and open sources to ensure utmost accuracy. We call this going "underneath the iceberg."
- Training - We continue to learn so you can continue to benefit. Our analysts are regularly trained on the newest Intelligence Community (IC) and research methodologies to ensure we always connect the dots.

Our Final Product: reports you don't have to dig through for relevant insights

- Clarity - Decision-making just got so much easier. Our reports put all red-flag findings front and center, and provide raw data to supplement. The result is a concise and impactful story that empowers your decisions.
- Resources - Don't worry, we've got this down to a science. You'll always receive high-quality products on time, and with a competitive cost-to-benefit ratio that is buzzworthy.
